

Winners of the CEEB poster competition 2021

November 29, 2021 |

Luiz Jardim de Queiroz and Naomi Heller won the eight edition of the CEEB poster competition! The Center of Competence for Ecology, Evolution and Biogeochemistry (CEE) in Kastanienbaum is organising this annual event in order to provide a unique opportunity for young researchers to demonstrate their scientific activity as well as their creativity and quality of work.

The twelve participants of this year's competition all took advantage of the opportunity to present their poster and explain their work. Posters and presentations were not only evaluated by a jury but also by every member of the audience. Scientific content, overall design & attractiveness of the presentation, accessibility and guidance of readers, clarity of figures and the quality of the flash presentation were all taken into account on the election of the 2021 winner!

Based on the clear votes, the CEEB poster award jury decided to give two prizes: one to a member of the group of the more experienced researchers (postdocs) and one to a member of the group of more junior researchers (PhD/MSc students).
