Florence Metz has bested 31 other teams to become this year’s Dance Your Ph.D. winner.

In her dance video, the PhD candidate from the Policy Analysis and Environmental Governance (PEGO) group of ESS has reinterpreted her doctoral thesis on water protection policy as a dance and gives an impressive demonstration of how research findings can be represented in dance form. “After all the brain- and desk-work for my PhD thesis, I was looking for a change. The contest presented a unique opportunity to combine my knowledge of dance with my scientific work”, Florence explains.
