

Small-scale sewage treatment plants can be engineered in many different ways, depending on the situational requirements and preferences: indoor or outdoor, above or below ground, open or closed, visible or hidden, high-tech or low-tech, nature-based or mechanised, tailor-made and built in situ or modular and pre-fabricated.

