Abstract During this seminar, we will discuss the potential of technology for global sustainable development. In the first part, Dr. Adina Rom will present ETH for Development (ETH4D), a new ETH-wide initiative aiming to strengthen ETHs engagement for the UN Sustainable Development Goals. You will get the opportunity to make suggestions and ask questions about this exciting initiative. In the second part of the seminar, Adina will present her doctoral research about the impact of solar lighting on rural households in Kenya as well as the technology's potential to curb emissions at a low cost.
